WIA President's Letter

The ever-escalating buzzing of the cicadas, although a quintessential summer sound, foreshadows the official end, on September 21, of that balmy and carefree season. Unofficially, summer ends with the Labor Day holiday, which is late this year, or the start of school, which is always too early for the student. As I begin my autumn tasks beneath a still-scorching sun, I find myself again sounding the familiar refrain, "where did the summer go?"

September is a month of transition. Beach books give way to heavier tomes. Summer jobs evolve from a daily task into a resume item. Family vacations become just memories and photographs. September is also a month of overlap. Late tomatoes share garden space with early mums. Summer clearance items wrestle for shelf space with fall and even winter inventory. One local professional sports team ineptly plays out the string while the other, in a stadium next door, brims with hope and marshals its forces for another run at the playoffs.

In Wiltondale, we refuse to let summer go. Our annual golf tournament, open to neighborhood duffers and low-handicappers alike, tees off September 6. Thanks to a quirkily late Labor Day, our pool is open through mid-September. Our signature event, the annual party, will fill the pool grounds with adults and children September 12. This popular party is open to all residents, whether pool members or not, and features food, drinks, games and much social interaction. And not to be left out, neighborhood canines will romp and splash in the half-hour long "dog swim" September 13 just before the pool is shuttered for the season.

Here's to an enjoyable end to summer and an eventful and productive fall. Remember to drive slowly and safely on our neighborhood's streets and always keep an eye out for pedestrians.
